

whereby the cDNA or DNA codes allelic modifications of one of the amino acid sequences under aa), in which at least one amino acid of the amino acid sequence is substituted, deleted, or inserted, without in this case significantly affecting the activity of the active protein.